

34 (New) The organic electroluminescence display device according to claim 33 wherein said resin substrate comprises polyethylene terephthalate.

Sub F5
35 (New) The organic electroluminescence display device according to claim 33 wherein said insulating film comprises a material selected from the group consisting of silicon nitride and silicon oxy-nitride.

Sub 01
36 (New) An organic electroluminescence display device comprising:
a resin substrate; and an insulating comprising an oxy-nitride on the resin substrate.

C1
37 (New) The organic electroluminescence display device according to claim 36 wherein said resin substrate comprises polyethylene terephthalate.

38 (New) An organic electroluminescence display device comprising:
a resin substrate;
an insulating film comprising an oxy-nitride on the resin substrate; and a thin film transistor formed over the insulating film.

39 (New) The organic electroluminescence display device according to claim 38 wherein said resin substrate comprises polyethylene terephthalate.

40 (New) An organic electroluminescence display device comprising:

a resin substrate;
an insulating film comprising an oxy-nitride on the resin substrate; and a channel region of a thin film transistor, wherein the channel region comprises amorphous silicon and is formed over the insulating film.

41 (New) The organic electroluminesence display device according to claim 40 wherein said resin substrate comprises polyethylene terephthalate.

C1
comp
42 (New) An organic electroluminesence display device comprising:
a resin substrate;
an insulating film comprising an oxy-nitride on the resin substrate; and a channel region of a thin film transistor, wherein the channel region comprises crystalline silicon and is formed over the insulating film.

43 (New) The organic electroluminesence display device according to claim 42 wherein said resin substrate comprises polyethylene terephthalate.

REMARKS

It has come to the undersigned's attention that pages 6-8 of Amendment A (having new Claims 33-43) were not included in the filed copy of Amendment A. Therefore, the undersigned is filing this amendment to add new Claims 33-43.